American Steel back in town

By Mike Myers
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — American Steel Foundries is back.

"I was told it would be a cold day when American Steel returned to Granite City," ASF President Norman Berg said Wednesday. "But I don't think this was the day they were talking about."

Production at the foundry will resume May 15. There are currently 35 employees working on preparation, according to Berg, and 30 more will be added during the final preparation. He said 200 more employees will be added by early summer.

All will be former employees; there will be no new hiring, he said. Approximately 900 former employees currently are on the recall list.

Berg announced the reopening plans at a press conference held on the newly-renovated production floor of the foundry. The foundry closed in 1982 due to a lack of orders.

Granite City ASF Works Manager Bill Donovan said he had had the sad task of overseeing the lowering of the American flag as the plant closed in November 1982.

"This morning at 8, I had the pleasure of seeing it raised again," he said. "I hope we never have to take it down again."

The foundry will pay $20 million to $30 million in wages each year, Donovan said, and he hopes production will expand and even more people will be recalled to work.

The foundry makes the bolsters and side frames for the wheel assemblies of railroad freight cars. When it closed, ASF cited loss of its market during a steep recession in the railroad supply industry. Railway mergers were a factor in creating an oversupply of freight cars.

The market has improved enough to enable the plant to reopen, Berg said, but the actual reopening decision also is the result of work rule changes negotiated with the unions and an electric rate structure negotiated with Illinois Power Co.

He said ASF has $14 million invested in the Granite City property and has invested $1 million more installing the new production floor.

"We will make sure the unit pays off," Donovan said.

When it announced possible reopening plans last summer, ASF said the reopening depended on economic factors and the cooperation of labor and other area groups. Berg said every single group had cooperated; in particular, the unions, Illinois Power and local government had done everything possible to help reopen the foundry.

"Finally, the support of the community was overwhelming," Berg said. "Ever since the announcement, we have been swamped with best wishes."

Donovan introduced several well-wishers from the groups he especially credited for their cooperation in making the reopening possible.

Buddy Davis, District 34 director of the United Steelworkers of America, said, "It has been a long, long six years." He said his union has been associated with the foundry for almost 50 years and looks forward to a long future.

Jim Hankins, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, said he had retained confidence the foundry would someday reopen.

"I knew because you're the best and we're the best. I'll tell you what I told my people," he said. "American Steel closed down, but it continued to negotiate contracts, even though it didn't have to, and it's a credit to Buddy Davis and the Steelworkers that there are 900 people on the recall list six years later."

Mayor Von Dee Cruse recalled that he and Economic Development Coordinator Alan Orbals had gone to Chicago to visit Berg and Donovan last year with low expectations.

"But when we left the office, on the 4th floor, I told Alan, 'We don't need to take the elevator. I can jump right out the window and float down. I feel so high.'"

You can imagine how light on my feet I'm feeling today," Cruse said.

Madison nixes nudity, bare barmmaids

By Andy Sterling
Staff writer

MADISON — Before an overflow gallery that included four clergymen, the City Council on Tuesday passed a wide-ranging anti-obscenity ordinance that could result in $500 fines and loss of business licenses for offending establishments.

The ordinance, which passed by a vote of 6-2, was opposed by 1st Ward Alderman Andy Economy and 2nd Ward Alderman Ron Grzywacz.

Mayor John Belloff had City Attorney Casper Nighswander draft the ordinance after hearing reports of topless and semi-topless waitressing from "a law enforcement agency" other than the Madison Police Department.

Belloff said the agency, which he declined to identify, was investigating "other things undercover" when it discovered the incidents and reported them to him three weeks ago. He said the agency was in Madison "at our request" because "everybody in town knows our policemen."

Belloff declined to say what other matters the agency is investigating, but he said the investigation is continuing.

A first draft of the ordinance was presented to the council two weeks ago, but the aldermen tabled it. A modified version was read and approved Tuesday.

As worded, the ordinance could be construed to prohibit everything from a see-through blouse worn by a customer to the sale or rental of movies and magazines containing nudity.

But Belloff said that was not its intent.

"We're not dealing with movies, but with red-blooded individuals," Belloff said. He said the ordinance is not intended to prohibit the rental or sale of movies and magazines containing nudity.

The first draft of the ordinance, which was presented two weeks ago, had specifically mentioned obscene films among the prohibited activities. There are two movie rental shops in Madison. The adopted ordinance mentions only films "performed before an audience."

But he said the public showing of X-rated movies would not be tolerated. "I'm not going to allow it," Belloff said Wednesday.

Belloff told the council Tuesday he was "not going to let Madison become another Brooklyn, Saugat or Washington." He said the ordinance is not intended to prohibit the rental or sale of movies and magazines containing nudity.

Aldermen Economy and Grzywacz objected to the broadly worded nature of the ordinance.

"I'm against any level performances or anything immoral going on," Grzywacz said. "But this ordinance won't allow singing telegrams by women wearing skimpy outfits."

The ordinance defines nudity as "less than completely and adequately covered human genitals or pubic region, buttocks, female breast below a point immediately above the top of the areola, and human male genitals in a discernibly turgid state, even if completely and opaquely covered."

Economy voiced no objections during the meeting, aside from his "no" vote, but he objected later to the broad wording of the ordinance and complained that aldermen should have had time to thoroughly study the revised ordinance before voting.

"There was no way I could read this thing and vote on it in 15 minutes," Economy said. "Any alderman that voted 'yes' on it doesn't need to be an alderman. They should open up their own law firm."

Grzywacz, who is running for mayor against Belloff in April, charged that the timing of the ordinance was "politically motivated." He and Belloff got into a brief shouting match after the ordinance was passed.

'Achievement' nominees may join local list

Tomorrow is the last day to submit nominations for 1988 Women of Achievement, and Granite City could bring the honor home again by nominating the right person.

Three from this community have won in the past — Sister Mary Thomas, chairman of the board of St. Elizabeth Medical Center, Lillian Green, a former employee of Granite City Steel, and Dr. Patricia Koch, a physician who has since moved from the area.

The program, sponsored by the Suburban Journals and KMOX-AM (1120), annually honors 10 women who, through their contributions in either volunteer or professional capacity, have made a difference in their community.

Letters of nomination should be less than two pages in length and describe the nominee's qualifications, accomplishments and community impact. Letters must include the nominee's full address, telephone number as well as the name and phone number of the letter writer.

Letters should be addressed to Women of Achievement, Suburban Journals, 1714 Deer Tractor Trail, St. Louis, Mo. 63131.

The 1988 Women of Achievement will be honored, along with past Women of Achievement, at a luncheon May 17 at the Omni International Hotel at Union Station.

Court to decide if Bowler's on board

By Nicole Vaughn
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Vice President Paul Ray Bowler's stay on the District 9 school board will be decided in court.

After attorneys representing the school system and Bowler disagreed Tuesday night over the impact of a recent guilty plea by Bowler, the school board mutually agreed that the courts should decide.

Bowler pleaded guilty last Thursday to one count of making a false statement to a financial institution. He was originally charged in a federal indictment with four counts but the others were dropped. The charges stem from a loan Bowler applied for in 1984 while attempting to purchase six four-unit apartment buildings.

"In my opinion there was a vacancy on this board as of the date of this particular plea," school attorney William Schooley told the board Tuesday night. The Illinois School Code says there is a vacancy in the event of a board member's "conviction of an infamous crime or of any offense involving a violation of official oath."

Schooley said that an "infamous crime" was "not really defined anywhere." He quoted case law as having determined it to include "acts inconsistent with morals ... common decency."

Illinois Revised Statutes do, however, provide a detailed definition of infamous crimes. Effective July 1, 1987, infamous crimes are: "the offenses of arson, bigamy, bribery, burglary, aggravated criminal sexual assault, criminal sexual assault, subsequent conviction for criminal sexual abuse, forgery, kidnapping, first-degree murder, perjury, robbery, sale of narcotic drugs, subornation of perjury and the punishment therefor."

imposed is imprisonment in the penitentiary."

Bowler remained silent during the board's discussion, asking permission for his attorney, Clyde Kuehn, to speak for him.

"We were cognizant of the potential effect on Paul's position (upon) entering the plea," Kuehn said. "I have doubts as to whether or not this is considered an 'infamous' crime."

Kuehn said he had contacted Chuck Givens who represented the state superintendent of education and quoted Givens as saying he did not feel it to be an infamous crime.

"I differ with counsel," Kuehn said. "I think it is premature to consider Paul's situation a conviction. From a legal standpoint, he does not stand convicted of any crime at this time."

Kuehn said sentencing is scheduled for May 26. "I would ask that counsel reconsider his thinking," Kuehn said. "A guilty plea is being misconstrued as a conviction."

"I am just giving my opinion and making a recommendation to the board," Schooley said. "Paul was elected for four years and I don't want to do anything to deprive him of his rights or the rights of the people who voted him into office."

A mutual recommendation by the attorneys was to seek a declaratory judgment in Madison County Circuit Court.

"A motion to that effect made by President Joanne Terrell was agreed upon unanimously."

Board members agreed that the action would protect Bowler until a determination can be made, and protect the board from having all future actions put under scrutiny.

Kuehn and Schooley agreed that the circumstances surrounding the crime are to be fully explained to the judge and that documents Bowler signed are to be submitted as evidence.

Granite town board kills own pay increase

GRANITE CITY — The mayor and aldermen turned down a substantial raise in pay Tuesday night for their duty as members of the town board.

Currently paid $10 a town meeting, in effect $20 a month, the aldermen considered a proposed raise to $100 a month. It was defeated 7-6.

Sixth Ward Alderman Walter Milton made the motion proposing the raise, saying the last increase had been in 1964. First Ward Alderman Casmer Skubish said the aldermen should consider the service they provide, not something requiring pay.

Skubish said the raise was particularly bad since it came so close to a raise the aldermen gave themselves last month.

Skubish, 2nd Ward Alderman Jim Miller, 3rd Ward Alderman Paul Fisk and Brett Hanke, 4th Ward Alderman Sharon Perjak, 6th Ward Alderman Judy Whitaker and 7th Ward Alderman Emerald Daves voted against the increase.

Milton, 4th Ward Alderman Dan Partney, 5th Ward Alderman Lloyd Bailey and Ralph Astorin, 1st Ward Alderman Jeff Worthen and Mayor Von Dee Cruse voted for it.

First Ward Alderman Everett Morden and 2nd Ward Alderman Pat Schuman were absent.

An employee at the Farm Fresh Store in the 2900 block of Nameoki Road reported Feb. 15 a man ran from the store when she refused to cash his personal check. Luke 4:16 "And he came to Nazareth..."

There are times when we must remember why Christ came. He publicly declared his mission from the Holy Scriptures. Faith comes by hearing and hearing by the Word of God.

Christ entered into the synagogue and read from the book of Isaiah. He publicly declared his mission from the Heavenly Father with those gracious words:

"The Spirit of the Lord is upon me, he has anointed me to preach the gospel to the poor; he has sent me to heal the brokenhearted, to preach deliverance to the captives, and recovering of sight to the blind, to set at liberty them that are bruised. To preach the acceptable year of the Lord."

Somewhere in this declaration your need is mentioned. Jesus came to meet that need for you. Let Him do it. Today!

Store-items source misidentified

GRANITE CITY — Some misleading information provided to the owners of J & L Sales resulted in the same information being printed beneath a news photo about the recently opened store at 2282 State St., Richard Beasley, a co-owner, said Tuesday.

Beasley said the store carries a line of overstocked and slightly damaged merchandise, primarily obtained from a distributor for a chain of department stores on the east coast and from other sources.

At the time the business was purchased prior to Christmas, Beasley said, he and his wife, Marie, and Janet Rotherington, who jointly own and operate the store, understood from the previous owner that the stocked items were obtained from the May Co., parent company of Famous-Barr and Venture stores.

Fabick Caterpillar tractor sales, service coming here

By Valerie Evenden
Staff writer

PONTOON BEACH — A new heavy equipment firm will soon move into the village.

John Fabick Tractor Co. of Fenton, Mo., a Caterpillar sales and service dealership, has purchased the Comfort Air Conditioning and Heating property at 3944 Illinois 111.

Jerry Harrington, owner of Comfort Air Conditioning and Heating Inc., said his firm will remain in the village.

"We are moving back to our old location at 3780 Pontoon Road. We are going back to the same location we were for several years," he said Wednesday.

Harrington said his company is planning its move on March 8. "The Fabick people have been in our building measuring already," he added.

The Fabick firm, which sells heavy equipment and parts and also services equipment, has been around for many years and has a large operation in Fenton, Harrington said.

"They do a $100 million in sales a year," he said.

The property purchased by Fabick includes a 7,200-square-foot building on a 2.2-acre tract of land.

A business license was granted Fabick at Tuesday night's meeting of the Village Board.

Trustee Don Rea questioned whether service work handled by the firm will be done inside the building.

"Yes, it will," replied Mayor Glen Wilson. "The only thing outside will be new equipment."

"You know we've had some complaints from residents of Quiet Valley about that area with weeds, etc. I hope we don't get into that problem again," Rea said.

"Fabick runs a strictly first-class operation. I've seen it," said Trustee Bob Vincent.

Many eligible don't get SSI

By Sabrina Eaton
and Melissa Robinson
P-RJ Washington bureau

WASHINGTON — Less than half of Illinois senior citizens who are eligible for federal benefits under the Supplemental Security Income program are actually receiving them, an advocacy group says.

The American Association of Retired Persons, in a recently released study, said that 52,400 eligible Illinois residents failed to collect benefits on any given month in 1985, the most recent year for which data was available.

In Madison County, 2,920 persons received SSI in 1985. Of those, 2,730 were adults and 190 were blind or disabled children, SSA figures show.

"I don't think the situation has improved since 1985," said AARP spokeswoman Lourdes Olivas. "You have higher numbers of people turning 65, becoming eligible for the program."

"The economic situation overall for many people has not improved."

The Social Security Administration could not corroborate AARP's tally. Administration figures differed significantly, showing that more than 134,000 persons in Illinois were receiving aid in 1985, and more than 150,000 in 1987.

"Do you want a Caterpillar by your house?" a man in the audience asked. "They're big. They are not a garden tractor, you know."

Rea cast the only negative vote on granting the business license.
Comfort Air Conditioning and

Heating now concentrates on the installation of heating and central air conditioning, both residential and commercial, rather than the appliance business.

When a major part of the business was in appliances, much larger storage areas were required, a spokesman for the firm said.

MESSAGE TO ALL VOTERS OF GRANITE CITY:

GRANITE CITY DEMOCRAT PRECINCT COMMITTEEMEN UNANIMOUSLY ENDORSE METRO-EAST SANITARY DISTRICT FLOOD PROTECTION QUESTION

At the regular organization meeting on February 15, 1989, the elected Democrat Precinct Committeemen of Granite City endorsed by unanimous vote the which will be decided in a consolidated election on February 28 in communities throughout the Metro-East region. The organization took action to support this referendum in order to:

- Secure more than $23,000,000 in federal and state grants to renew the flood protection system and install groundwater control facilities in our region;
- Stimulate the regional economy with a job-creating $31,000,000 public works project that will invite the location of businesses and industry here in the future;
- Avert the threat of disastrous river flooding which the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers has said may result from deterioration of our flood protection system;
- Prevent the imposition of flood insurance costs which would become an economic hardship on our citizens;
- Prevent the imposition of Federal Emergency Management Agency unprotected floodplain regulations, which would halt residential, commercial and industrial development in Granite City and throughout the Metro-East.

The referendum calls for a temporary 26-cents per $100 assessed valuation tax increase, with a permanent increase of only 9 cents thereafter, to be paid by all taxpayers, corporate and private. The increase will cost the owner of a $60,000 home only $52 per year for five years.

In all, $6,000,000 local tax dollars will be generated to match more than $23,000,000 in government grants.

The Democrat Precinct Committeemen of Granite City believe the project is vital and that the available grants create the fairest and most beneficial circumstances possible for local taxpayers.

SIGNED:

SANDY PENCE, Vice Chairman

The dwindling community of Valmeyer, south of Columbia in Monroe County, is seen from a cemetery on the east side of town.

Death throes

Valmeyer feels haunted by past

By Andy Siering
Staff writer

VALMEYER — This sleepy bottomland town of 800 people was already sick. Now it's dying.

Four years ago, Valmeyer was designated an unprotected floodplain by the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA), the same fate that some feel faces the Quad City area, unless voters here pass a Feb. 28 flood protection referendum.

In recent decades as farmers around Valmeyer died and their farms were consolidated, the region began to lose population. Unable to find work, young adults moved away. The population of Monroe County is a third of what it was 25 years ago, said County Treasurer Merrill Prange, a resident of nearby Fulton.

Valmeyer's only hope was to attract industry. It managed to bring in a couple of light-manufacturing companies in the last 16 years.

But all hope of attracting new industry was blown away when FEMA declared the town an unprotected floodplain and forced it to enact stringent ordinances that prohibit virtually all new construction.

Since then, Foster Pond Industries, a shoe-accessories manufacturer which employs 90 people in Valmeyer, has expanded its operations, adding 40 jobs. The problem for Valmeyer, however, is that the company expanded to nearby Marissa, which retains protected floodplain status.

"I couldn't do it here in Valmeyer," said Foster Pond owner Roger Badger. "I would still like to build another building here, but I can't," he said.

Besides the Harrisonville levee district, in which Valmeyer is located, the adjacent Stringtown and Fort Charities levee districts have also lost the protected floodplain designation.

Property owners in the Harrisonville drainage district already pay $1.50 per $100 of assessed value. Valmeyer community leaders say they consider it a good investment.

"We know we would flood every year" without the levee and pump station, said County Treasurer Prange.

The district's problem is that $8 million to $10 million would be required to raise portions of the levee several feet — enough to bring it up to the standards required by FEMA. The 1,500 residents of the Harrisonville district cannot possibly pay for it and they lack the political clout to get the federal government to foot the bill.

The Harrisonville district has a yearly budget of $160,000, said drainage board commissioner Floyd Niebruegge. That is about a tenth of the Metro East Sanitary District budget, which is supported by 200,000 residents. The MESSD, which controls the flood protection system affecting communities in the Granite City area, is seeking a tax hike on the ballot next Tuesday.

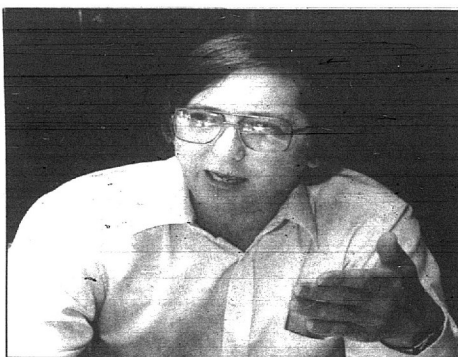

Voters here and in Cahokia and East St. Louis are being asked to approve a 26-cent rate increase for five years, bringing the tax rate to 47 cents per $100 of assessed value. Passage of the tax hike would raise nearly $6 million over the next five years to match $23 million in federal funds and another $2 million in right-of-way leases and in cash from the state.

The tax increase was defeated in November, and U.S. Army Corps of Engineers Col. James E. Corbin said a second rejection by voters would prompt a second unsatisfactory rating for MESSD, requiring Corbin to alert FEMA.

Valmeyer residents argue that their present levee is sufficient to protect the town. But FEMA bases its flood protection standards on a river level sufficient to cause what it calls a "100-year flood."

According to Prange, the river has never hit that level at Valmeyer.

"Prairie du Rocher (a town about 20 miles southeast of Valmeyer) has never flooded in 260 years. Yet the Corps projects a 1-percent chance it will flood to a depth of 10 feet in any given year.

MONROE COUNTY TREASURER Merrill Prange, a resident of nearby Fulton, explains the results of a community being declared an unprotected floodplain by FEMA.

The Corps projects that same chance of a 14-foot flood hitting Valmeyer, Prange said. Since 1948, when the current levee was finished, Valmeyer flooded once — in 1973.

The Corps projects that same 1-percent chance in any given year of the Quad City area flooding to a depth of several feet, depending on the specific location.

Loss of its protected status has caused the bottom to drop out of Valmeyer's real estate market, too.

The town was forced to adopt an ordinance written by FEMA in order to avoid yearly flood insurance premiums of 10 percent of total property value. New homes can't be built unless they're built on 14-foot stilts.

Additions can be made to existing houses only within strict limits. As a result, a house that sells for $50,000 in Waterloo, 10 miles away, will sell for only $40,000 in Valmeyer — if a buyer can be found. That discrepancy is likely to increase.

"Normally, it will be a local person who buys it, because who's going to come in from outside?" said real estate agent Ed Kaestner.

"They hear 'floodplain' and go 'Whoa!'" Kaestner, the only real estate representative in Valmeyer, has no houses listed at the moment.

Dennis Knobloch, senior vice president of Farmers State Bank, agreed with Kaestner's assessment. "As close as we are to St. Louis, we should have no problem selling houses, yet we can't."

Valmeyer residents proposed to FEMA that people be allowed to build at their own risk. FEMA rejected the proposal.

Said Prange: "They argue that if the federal flood protection program was mandated by Congress, and they won't make exceptions.

Moreover, the Corps of Engineers refuses to foot the bill for anything other than emergency temporary repairs.

"If they bail us out, they may have to bail out everybody up and down the river," Prange said.

Residents in the Harrisonville drainage district wish they had the chance to vote for a tax increase to get matching funds from the federal government to fix their levee.

"If the people up there can avoid getting into our situation, they would be well advised to do so," said Prange.

"Do whatever you have to do to keep your levee system certified," said Harry Reichert, one of three members of the Monroe County Board.

"If you lose that certification, you're in deep trouble," Reichert said.

While the swordman was yet in a daze from surprise/ The poet fired gallons of ink in his eyes. Backed up by barrage of sonnets; rondelets; Ballades; chants royals; triolets; villanelles.

The trochees and dactyls around him exploded/ So fast that the swordman was quite incommodeled. He was epigrammed, similed, punned, metaphored, Until with reluctance he unsheathed his sword.

And lopped off the head of that Rhymor of Rhymes, Then turned to perusing the sports in the Times. The dying head sighed, "It may be now and then/ That the edge of the sword has an edge on the pen."

Dear poets, when swordsmen drop over to play, It's wise to say, "Sorry, I'm out for the day." (And will be till foxes lie down with the hens; And will be till smiths hammer swords into pens.)

Words to stay alive by. Sticks and stones can break your head. Fight a sword with a pen and you might get dead.

Lost In This Space

By Andy Siering

In contest 'twixt pen and sword, sword has edge

That fun-loving guy, the Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini, is at it again. He's such a card! This time, Khomeini, the ruler of that festive vacation spot, Iran, has called for all right-thinking Muslims to murder a novelist whose work he considers blasphemous to the religion of Islam.

The author is Salman Rushdie, a native of India, now a citizen of England, who has published a rambling novel about life in Bombay and London, "The Satanic Verses," contains passages that Moslems have taken as an insult to their religion, Islam.

The ayatollah considers himself the ultimate authority on Islam, and last week he called for Moslems around the world to kill Rushdie. His pupils the size of bees' knees, the ayatollah exhorted every Moslem to "employ everything he's got, his life and wealth, to send (Rushdie) to hell."

Most predominantly-Moslem countries have banned the novel. Other Islamic leaders have echoed Khomeini though, to be fair, some have repudiated the call for Rushdie's murder.

Threats have also been made against the book's publisher, Viking/Penguin, and several bookstore chains in the U.S. have removed the book from their shelves, saying they were concerned about the safety of their employees.

The controversy is making Rushdie rich. The book is to be listed as number two on the New York Times best-seller list. Of course, it will be hard for him to spend the money if he winds up dead.

I can hear what you're saying. "What's funny about this? I thought this was a humor column!" I'm getting to that.

If you look hard enough, you can find a humorous angle to just about anything. In the case of the Rushdie book brouhaha, the humor can be found in the response of other writers to the threats and the bookstores' moves. They're winking macho.

Glenn Saven of Webster Groves, author of the novel "White Palace," called the bookstores' actions "utterly despicable. If I was of a different mind, I would firebomb them for their cowardice." That's a big "if." Glenn; it's also exactly the sort of thing the ayatollah himself would do.

William Gass, author and professor of philosophy at Washington University, condemned all efforts to intimidate writers.

Said Gass: "I think it can be stopped if these people realize that for every gun they point at us, we will point a thousand pens at them." That ought to scare the bejibbers out of them, Bill.

Gass, of course, was making a reference to the familiar (and highly debatable aphorism) "The pen is mightier than the sword."

What most people don't realize is that those words were authored by Edward Bulwer Lytton, the 19th-century author who began a novel with the immortal words, "It was a dark and stormy night."

Willard R. Espy, editor emeritus of Reader's Digest, once wrote a hortatory verse titled "The Sword Is Mightier Than the Pen." We reprint portions of it here as a public service for those who might be inclined to take Lytton too literally.

Espy versified of a poet he knew who was "silly enough to think Lytton spoke true," and who challenged a swordsman to a battle to the death.

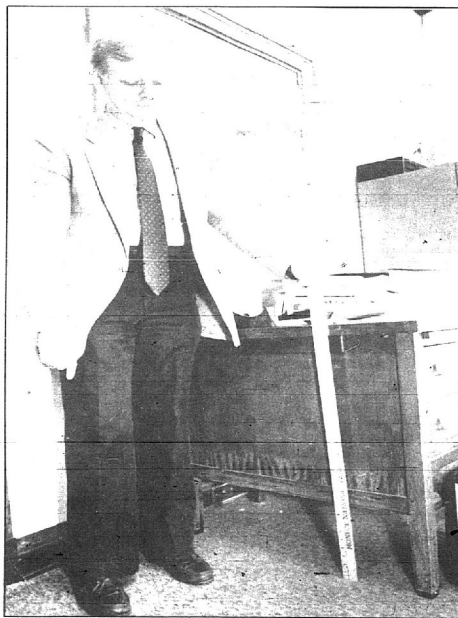

While the swordman was yet in a daze from surprise/ The poet fired gallons of ink in his eyes. Backed up by barrage of sonnets; rondelets; Ballades; chants royals; triolets; villanelles.

The trochees and dactyls around him exploded/ So fast that the swordman was quite incommodeled. He was epigrammed, similed, punned, metaphored, Until with reluctance he unsheathed his sword.

And lopped off the head of that Rhymor of Rhymes, Then turned to perusing the sports in the Times. The dying head sighed, "It may be now and then/ That the edge of the sword has an edge on the pen."

Dear poets, when swordsmen drop over to play, It's wise to say, "Sorry, I'm out for the day." (And will be till foxes lie down with the hens; And will be till smiths hammer swords into pens.)

Words to stay alive by. Sticks and stones can break your head. Fight a sword with a pen and you might get dead.

Defeat on Tuesday would wreak havoc on our area

The floodplain we live on must be protected by voting "Yes" next Tuesday on the Flood Protection Question.

The danger was explained in a series of articles and editorials we published during the fall of 1988 and in the last few weeks. The protection project lost by a close margin on the crowded November ballot; now a second and final chance has been offered to voters Feb. 28.

There was an overwhelming case for approval, simply on the merits of the project. People are in peril of drowning, and property is in danger of being destroyed. But now the floodplain communities (those below the bluffs in Madison and St. Clair Counties) face an even greater catastrophe, whether or not flooding occurs, wet weather or dry.

The greater Cahokia, East St. Louis and Quad City areas must vote "Yes" on Tuesday if they are to have a future.

Otherwise, these communities will be "shut down" permanently. "As has already happened in the town of Valmeyer, new building permits (residential, commercial and manufacturing) would no longer be issued in the Metro East Sanitary District area.

"Nearly all home sales would be halted because mortgages could not be approved.

"People's and companies' investments would dwindle in value rapidly — a crippling economic penalty.

"Unable to expand, or to attract new businesses as customers, many industries would curtail their hiring. Some would close and move elsewhere.

"With reduced retail activity throughout the region, a number of stores would close or reduce their operations. Job openings would almost disappear.

"Schools and other governmental bodies would be devastated. With families and businesses leaving, and property values slashed, there would be severe erosion of the taxable base that supports local-level governments.

"The biggest losses would occur on the floodplain, but there also would be much indirect damage in both counties' upland areas and even in the Missouri portion of the bi-state metropolitan area.

Avoiding bonds, our communities could jointly pay less than $6 million over the next five years to enable the Army Corps of Engineers to carry out a $31 million project to control river flooding, surface runoff and groundwater.

The local tax would increase about $35 a year on a home worth $40,000 for the next five years, with the rate rising from 21 to 47 cents. After the five-year period, the rate would drop back to 31 cents.

However, with a "No" vote, to regain "protected floodplain" status, the local area would have to pay about $44 million, including interest, to do the same work. It's either an easily affordable $6 million, or a back-breaking $44 million.

Can you and other property owners afford $44 million? How many decades would it take to raise that much money from local families and businesses?

Should we delay and hope that Uncle Sam will pay 100 percent? It will never happen, not in these times of federal austerity.

Should we make use of the 75 percent federal funding voted by Congress in 1988? Yes.

Will federal help be available if we delay? No. The money will go elsewhere. The grant that was voted is unprecedented and cannot be repeated or renewed. If it disappears forever unless citizens vote "Yes" Feb. 28.

Should local families' investments be killed off along with their hometowns? Should we accept future floodings as well as economic death? The answer is obvious: We must defend ourselves, our loved ones, our homes and our jobs. But disaster will occur if we fail to vote "Yes."

To vote "No" and bring on economic suicide? None at all. Vote "Yes" next Tuesday on the ballot's Flood Protection Question.

Letter

Alderman: Wake up, Venice

To the editor:

This letter to Venice taxpayers follows the recent tax increase. The increase was passed by a vote of 6-1; I was the one who opposed it.

I voted no because I believe the council should have notified all taxpayers of the proposed increase — we owe you that much. Instead, the council voted without notifying any of you. Wake up, Venice.

The tax base is low enough, and this tax increase is merely throwing salt on an open wound.

Secondly, A $100,000 loan at 7 percent interest for five years has been taken out. This loan will drive some senior citizens on a set income to the brink of despair. However, the people hit the hardest will be the working class and the property owners.

Thirdly, the tax increase will hurt our efforts to attract new businesses. With a higher tax rate than cities with a comparable size, we place ourselves at an obvious disadvantage.

This increase is one of the most detrimental issues in the past 10 years. I can't see how our administration expected people to just read about it and then put it aside.

I was elected by you, the voters, to serve you and I owe you my best because you have been the best. Ten years ago, I took an oath to the citizens of the 4th Ward to inform them of their rights as citizens. Their best interests have been represented with my best in the past 10 years.

However, this administration has taken the city to its lowest point, ever. I have watched this administration for the last 10 years spend more money than they make each year.

There is only a matter of time before the well runs dry, and that time is now. Wake up, Venice.

Now they want more taxes and fewer policemen. This will only cause our crime rate to skyrocket. We as taxpayers must pay, because the administration's spending habits were not budgeted in the past 10 years. The writing is on the wall; do you see which direction our city is going?

We as a city must come together as one. Love must be brought back to our city. I love my city. I love my people; let's stay together.

In the words of the immortal Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., as a city "we must accept finite disappointment, but must never lose infinite hope." Our day will come again. Love, peace and hope.

Father wants to correct record

To the editor:

Your newspaper reported that Stephen M. Asbeck had been struck by a car after running into its path from behind another car. That report makes it appear as if he were totally at fault, which in my opinion is not true.

Stephen did cross from behind the car, which he should not have done, and was almost to the other side of the road when struck. Since Stephen was lying on the ground by the rear wheel on the passenger's side of the car, how could he have run into the car's path? Obviously, he was hit after already crossing in front of the car — not while running into its path.

The police report made it appear as if he was at fault, even after my wife and I discussed this with both the officer present at the scene and the boy's school principal. The driver of the other car does not have any insurance. Although she appeared quite distraught at the time of the accident, we have not heard from her office, which I feel is incongruous inasmuch as we plan no legal action, even though we are stuck with the ambulance bill and medical expenses.

We were not angry until this article appeared. All of us need to be more careful, whether pedestrian or driver, especially around schools.

I am truly thankful Stephen was not seriously injured. I do feel, however, that had the "shoe been on the other foot" this driver would have brought legal action against me; and yes, I do have insurance.

I would like the record set straight.

Pro-choice 'rebels' against Christianity

To the editor:

Pro-life and pro-choice are two different terms.

Pro-life means: anti-death. Pro-choice means: anti-life and for death. A deceitful term.

Pro-choice is allowing anti-Christian practices to continue.

Pro-choice means that human beings can do their own thing, or being rebellious against the Christian way of life. Therefore, Christians cannot hold onto the pro-choice agenda.

Christians live under a theocracy headed up by Father God Almighty. Father God Almighty says: "Thou shalt not kill."

Pro-choice must be stopped. If this organization overrules pro-life then the abortion mills will continue their deadly reign in this nation.

Abstinence until you are married is the best protection against unwanted children.

Opponents' view muddied

I'm getting a lot of calls these days, and I'm starting to recognize the same old voices, if not the same old rhetoric.

"How come you haven't been giving both sides of the story?" they'll ask, and then follow with a five-minute case against next Tuesday's Metro East Sanitary District tax referendum.

We've tried to give a balanced story, but opponents to the plan have been offering "tax increase" and automatically lay out, or — worse yet — speak out, with little or no knowledge of what it is they're advocating.

If it's not the few extra dollars given to them, it's the involvement of MESD, an agency that grew out of the former East Side Levee District, a corrupt body that allowed the local flood-protection system to go to seed.

Then there's what I call the "anti-Shang" faction, those who say that as long as Walter Greathouse is at the helm of MESD, there can be no guarantee that these new dollars will be wisely spent.

Greathouse may have been a liquor salesman before being appointed to MESD 10 years ago, but the woes of our sanitary system are not his fault. He has been saying for years the system needed repair, and all the while he was saying it he didn't have the money to do it.

Readers who use this logic are comparing apples to oranges. MESD might be the local sponsoring agency for the repair plan, but it will have virtually no control on how the money gets spent. Every dollar will pass under both federal and state government supervision.

Opposing views have been printed, mainly through letters to the editor. In news stories, we've been presenting the facts on facts so an informed electorate can go to the polls Tuesday. We would love to throw in a little more of the opposing view, but it is hard to mix facts with fiction.

Some people are sick of reading about MESD's plight, and frankly I'm sick of writing about it. I'll be a whole lot sicker if this thing fails to pass next Tuesday. If it does fail, our task of writing about problems is only beginning.

Child abuse must be curbed

Child abuse is a growing concern in Metro East, as it is in nearly every part of the nation. This week alone, two infants have been beaten to death in the bi-state metropolitan area, focusing intense scrutiny on what it is that leads parents and others to such cruelty.

No full solution is likely to be found this year, but the topic is timely because local residents currently are deciding which checkoff fund contributions to mark on their Illinois income tax returns.

By checking Box 11B, they can earmark a donation to the Child Abuse Prevention Fund.

These gifts are further increased by matching funds under a federal "challenge grant" program. Established in 1984, the prevention fund received donations of $498,336 from 63,788 persons that year, $353,406 from 44,471 in 1985, $240,052 from 33,834 in 1986, $266,836 from 36,122 in 1987 and $296,129 from 41,949 in 1988.

All money donated to the fund goes to community-based programs such as the Children's Home and Aid Society.

Among other prevention services is a series of instructional booklets aimed at the needs of single-parent families. "Special Friends" was created by the University of Illinois Cooperative Extension Services' School of Human Resources.

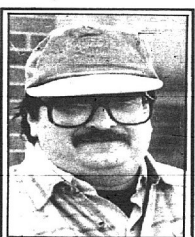

Parents are asked to have the children read the series in the form of weekly comic books and then discuss each book with them.

The books are available to the general public through Extension Service offices, including the one in Edwardsville, and through many counseling agencies.

'High Noon' faces region; good or evil will triumph

Last summer when Publisher Rick Jarvis asked me to research and write an in-depth series of articles on the Metro East Sanitary District flood control system, I gladly responded. No tax plan is popular these days, but it was clear that the flood system must be repaired if we are to continue occupying this floodplain.

Now, the issue has become even more imperative.

DOUBLE DANGER faces those who live, work, play, produce goods or sell merchandise in the MESD region.

Unless citizens cast "Yes" votes Tuesday, Feb. 28, they will be confronted by the threat of Mississippi River flooding, compounded by other serious water problems caused by surface runoff and groundwater.

And even if no flood disaster occurred, there would be unavoidable economic disaster.

Home owners might want to move away, but could not sell their property due to a ban on mortgages. Jobs would be lost. And the base of support for schools, cities and other taxing bodies would shrink.

NO EXAGGERATION is needed to describe the bleak outlook.

Col. James E. Corbin, district engineer for the Engineer Corps' St. Louis District, has said in writing that the MESD system will be given a second "unsatisfactory" rating if there is a "No" vote Feb. 28.

The second consecutive unsatisfactory rating would force the Engineer Corps to notify the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA).

FEMA WOULD THEN designate below-the-bluffs Madison and St. Clair counties as an unprotected floodplain. Officially unprotected since 1965, Valmeyer in Monroe County has been unable to authorize any construction of homes, stores, offices or industries since then.

Valmeyer is in bad shape, and even greater economic damage would be certain in the greater Granite City, East St. Louis and

Regional Roundup

By Bill Winter

Cahokia areas due to their big populations and business activity.

BACKGROUND INFORMATION was presented this fall by the Granite City Press-Record/Journal, East St. Louis News Journal and Cahokia-Dupo Journal to help alert the public.

The articles were headed "Many area residents fear future flooding. Engineer Corps and state will help Metro East Flood group formed and job impact cited. Good use of flood funds guaranteed, and Now-or-never flood solution offered."

Accompanying editorials dealt with Big task ahead-but help available. Coping with river requires action. Complex system protects region. Metro East area vulnerable to Mississippi River and rain. And Ask all your friends to vote "Yes."

IS THERE ANYTHING humorous about the Feb. 28 election issue?

Not much, but Nicole Vaughn of our news staff recalled a line from an old Bill Cosby comedy routine about Noah's ark.

It might make a good slogan for the flood protection campaign, she said. "How long can you tread water?"

BILL TERRELL, one of the founding fathers of the monthly Community Prayer Breakfasts sponsored by Granite City Rotarians, calls the MESD election next Tuesday the most important issue that has arisen in the 16-year history of the action-oriented prayer breakfast series.

The positive approach taken by the prayer group is to seek remedial action when a serious problem confronts this community and region. I'm part of the group and think highly of it, but it is small—less than 100 people. Thousands of "Yes" votes are needed.

How to motivate majority support is the key challenge. Some people who have heard about the Flood Protection Question on the ballot don't understand it. Some are focusing on irrelevant aspects. And many people have been so busy they're unaware of the threat to their lives, families, property and financial well-being.

ONE OF THE CRUELEST hoaxes confusing voters is the reassurance by a few self-appointed experts that inaction is best.

The fact is that the big federal funding that is available is unprecedented. It will be lost forever if voters fail to approve the flood protection plan.

A disservice also is being done by those who try to focus attention on the Sanitary District and its past misdeeds. They know that this isn't pertinent Feb. 28; it's the Engineer Corps, not MESD, that will be carrying out the renovation of pump stations, ditches and floodgates.

FUTURE MAINTENANCE work by MESD will be closely monitored by the state as spelled out in a new Illinois law. Taxpayers' interests will be fully safeguarded.

Those who say "We can't afford it" are either kidding themselves or are trying to mislead others. We can't afford not to.

It's a choice between an affordable $6 million contribution or a nearly impossible $44 million price tag. We'll either make use of a big bargain, or forever regret that we didn't.

NEUTRALITY ISN'T an acceptable alternative, either.

Some politicians may feel safer on the sidelines, but that isn't where leadership is exerted.

You could compare it with the middle-of-the-street pistol showdown in the "High Noon" movie starring Gary Cooper and Grace Kelly. Either the forces of good are going to triumph, allowing our communities to live, or death will prevail.

Staying on the sidelines isn't sufficient. Let's gather all our friends and relatives and help Sheriff Gary Cooper and everybody else achieve victory.

Let's vote "Yes" on Tuesday FOR flood protection and AGAINST death for our hometown.

A different way to prepare yams: peel, cut crosswise into half-inch rounds, then toss with olive oil, dried rosemary, and lots of unpeeled garlic, plus salt and pepper to taste. Bake 30 minutes at 450°, until potatoes are crusty outside, tender inside.

Salmonella alert from the Centers for Disease Control in Atlanta recommends that eggs be boiled for seven minutes or more, poached from five minutes or fried on each side for three minutes. Avoid raw or undercooked eggs in sauces and dressings.

Centerpiece for a party buffet: a big, big bowl of ice studded with bottles of soda, beer, fruit and vegetable juices, and white wine. Place red wine and spirits off to the side.

Simple broiled fish, Italian style: marinate monkfish (or other firm white fillets) with a little olive oil, minced parsley, crumbled rosemary and garlic. Broil lightly, turning once, then serve on a bed of hot mixed tomatoes, eggplant and peppers.

THE LAW AND YOU

BY RICK REED
Attorney At Law

Recently a woman went to a local video store to apply for a membership card. The application provided that club members are liable for "all videotapes not returned." The woman was issued a membership card which was subsequently lost. The person who found the card went to the video store and rented several movies by signing the original cardholder's name.

The movies were never returned, and the video store sent the cardholder a bill for more than $200. The woman who received the bill was not even aware that the card had been lost. The question arose as to whether the club member was responsible for the stolen movies.

There appears to be no Illinois case directly on point with the facts presented in this situation. One would have to look at the contract between the video store and the member to determine how a court would decide the case. As previously noted, the membership application provides that members are liable for all videotapes not returned. The document also provides, however, that the membership cannot be transferred, and rental privileges are extended only to family members living in the same household.

The application clearly specifies that the member must present the membership card in order to rent. The card itself also has a place for the member's signature. This would seem to indicate that the video store had a duty to check the signature when the movies were rented. The signature of the thief in the case noted above was not even similar to the signature of the cardholder. One has to wonder whether a court would find a person liable for movies not returned when the video store was negligent in not checking the signature.

It is impossible to accurately predict how a given court would decide this case. It would seem, however, that no contract to rent these specific tapes was ever entered into since the member never signed the rental ticket. The signature here at the time of rental was a forgery. The membership card itself does provide that the member should report promptly if the card is lost or stolen. In this case, however, the member was apparently unaware the card was lost. Given the facts in this case, it is unlikely that the cardholder would be found liable for the stolen videotapes.

Supt. McCaskill serves second time on panel

By Nicole Vaughn
Staff writer

SPRINGFIELD — Just about now, Venice School Superintendent Charles McCaskill should be face first and knee deep in paper work.

For the second consecutive year, McCaskill has been chosen for the seven-member Christa McAuliffe Fellowship panel. The panel was scheduled to meet at 1 p.m. today. Members will review, evaluate and recommend proposals for the program by sometime tomorrow.

"It's a lot of work but a very good experience," McCaskill said.

The special grant was established in memory of Christa McAuliffe of New Hampshire who had been chosen as the first teacher in space. She and six crew members were killed

Jan. 28, 1986, when the space shuttle Challenger exploded shortly after blasting off from Kennedy Space Center in Florida.

Congress has appropriated $1,892,000 for the program, with the maximum amount per project being $29,573, the new national average teacher salary.

During 1987 and 1988, Illinois educators received eight fellowships amounting to more than $100,000.

McCaskill compared the selection process to the Oscar or Emmy award nights.

"There are lots of people up there but only one person can win," McCaskill said. "You really don't know who it's going to be until it's all over with."

Due to his absence, tonight's regularly scheduled board meeting has been moved to 7 p.m. Monday, McCaskill said.

Trojans' long year comes to an end

By Mike Blackshere
Correspondent

COLUMBIA — A season where everything that could have gone wrong did just that for the Trojans mercifully came to an end Tuesday as they fell to the Lebanon Greyhounds 30-67 in the first round of the Columbia Class A Regional.

Lebanon (13-13) will play Assumption (19-7), a 97-58 winner over Dupu on Wednesday, in tonight's semifinals immediately following top-seeded Venice's (19-6) 7 p.m. game against Columbia (12-19), a 69-58 winner over Lovely on Tuesday.

It was par for this season's course that Madison had to head into the regional without two of its regular starters, Senior Aaron Jones was ineligible because of a discipline problem in school and sophomore Andre Mayes was in bed with the flu.

The Trojans had played without Jones and Mayes before they were both academically ineligible the first half of the season. But they were both key contributors in an 81-79 win over Lebanon on Jan. 24 that broke a ten-game losing streak.

In the earlier meeting, Jones led all scorers with 26 points. Mayes had 14 points, and James Haynes — who is now ineligible — scored six points. So the Trojans were without the services of three players who scored 46 of the team's 81 points in the first game, and it cost them.

Both teams started like it was their first game of the year, not

SCORING

MADISON	13	20	13	21-67

MADISON: Leonard 25 (5-9 3-pointers), T. Smith 14 (4-3 3-pointers), Walker 11, C. Grogg 7, Williams 4, Winters 4, Coleman 10, 3-pointers, Hughes 2, PG-26 (3-3 3-pointers), PF-17.

LEBANON: Schiappa 24, Foremyer 19 (5-3 3-pointers), Ogden 19 (5-3 3-pointers), Brooks 10, Miley 8, Gilmore 2, PG-28 (7-3 3-pointers), PF-15.

like they were fine-tuned for the playoffs. There were more turnovers and missed layups than points scored in the early going. With 1:43 left in the first quarter, Madison tied the game at 6-6.

"It was the same old story," Madison coach Al Collins said. "If we hit the easy shots in the first half, it is a completely different game."

Madison won the first quarter 13-8, but could have taken a much larger lead into the second quarter as the Greyhounds couldn't do anything right for the first eight minutes.

Lebanon played much better in the second quarter. When Tony Formoso hit a three-pointer — one of his five on the night — with 3:50 left in the half, Lebanon took a 27-25 lead. The Greyhounds never trailed again, exploding for 28 second-quarter points to take a 36-33 lead at halftime.

Lebanon (13-13) scored the first seven points of the second half to open up a ten-point lead. Madison made a couple of runs at the Greyhounds, but they could never again cut the margin to less than seven.

Davis 13th on all-time state win list

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

Brent Davis must feel like the Duke, Illinois and Arizona basketball teams. Being No. 1 isn't all it's cracked up to be.

Davis, the Warriors' senior 125-pounder, was ranked first in the state in his weight class heading into last week's state wrestling tournament in Champaign. Davis promptly lost his first match — eliminating him from a shot at first place before roaring back for five straight wins to take third place.

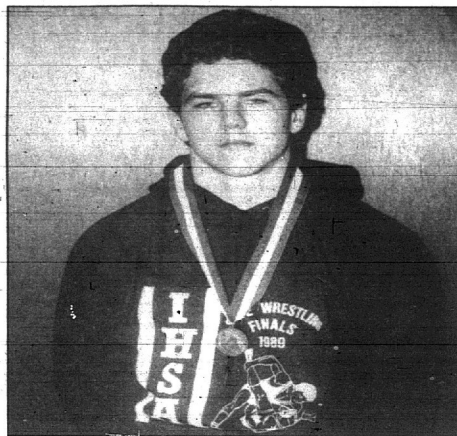

"Being ranked No. 1 put a lot of pressure on me," said Davis. "I would rather have not been ranked at all."

Still, placing third when more than 300 125-pounders began competition in the regionals three weeks ago isn't too bad. And Davis left his mark in the state record books. He'll finish his career 13th on the all-time Illinois win list with 149.

Davis' coach, Mike Garland, can't help but wonder what might have happened had Davis won that first-round match, a 4-2 loss to Oak Lawn Community senior Chuck Wagner.

"Brent just came back and dominated everyone after that first match," said Garland. "I really think he might have won it all."

Davis bounced back strong. He got a pin in his first wrestling match, then got three technical fall wins in four tries Saturday. His toughest match was a 6-4 decision over Hector Saldana of Aurora East in the quarterfinal wrestlingbacks. Davis wrapped up third place with a 1-50 technical fall win over John St. Clair of Chicago Heights Marian at 4:50. "I was pretty mad after losing," Davis said. "But I was happy that I was beating guys worse than he (Wagner) did."

BRENT DAVIS with the medal he won for placing third at 125 pounds in last week's state wrestling tournament.

While Wagner was just getting past opponents by a couple of points in the championship bracket, Davis was dominating the same opponents in the wrestlingbacks. "Brent didn't wrestle very well at all in that first match," Garland said. "He got a reversal in the last four seconds of the first period that we thought might have been two points. It could have gone either way, but Brent didn't get the call. It just shows how much character he has to come back and win five straight matches after that. It would have been easy for someone else to want to quit."

"I just didn't wrestle my normal match," Davis said of the first round. "I got back to normal after that and went after them."

It was shades of last year, when Davis was upset in the first round at state as a 112-pounder. But he didn't get a chance to wrestle again because his opponent promptly lost. Wagner kept winning this year, so Davis stayed alive.

And he left his mark in the state record books. His 49 victories this year were more than any other wrestler in Illinois finished at 49-2 and just one shy of the state single season record. In addition to being 13th on the win list (149-20), his 67 career pins were good for 35th on the all-time Illinois list. Davis finished with 26 pins this season.

"Considering they've been wrestling for 52 years in Illinois, those are pretty good numbers," said Garland.

Davis entered the tournament ranked first in the state at 125 pounds by Grappler magazine. He had been second to Ken Gerdes of New Lenox Providence, but Garland said the two were flip-flopped late last week. Gerdes, however, won the state title at 125 by beating Wagner 8-1.

"I think he was just happy to be there," Davis said of Wagner's performance in the title bout. "I don't want to say what I would have done (against Gerdes) because I don't wrestle him. But I would have wrestled him differently (than Wagner)." Davis owns Granite City records for single season and career wins and will go down as one of the best, if not the best, in school history.

Warriors, Redbirds try to end losing streaks

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

GRANITE CITY — One more home game. One more chance. The recent troubles of the opposition say the Warriors have a chance. The Warriors' health hurts those chances.

Granite City (6-9 in the Southwestern Conference, 7-17 overall) finishes out the regular season with an 8 p.m. game Friday at Memorial Gymnasium against the skidding Alton Redbirds. It's Don Deterding's last home game on the bench, and neither team is exactly on a roll — unless you mean a downward roll.

When the Redbirds clobbered the Warriors 74-45 at Alton on Jan. 20, the Birds were 11-2 and tied for the conference lead. That was the beginning of Granite City's current seven-game losing streak. But it was the end of the good times for Alton. The Redbirds have lost six in a row since then, including four conference games. Alton could still gain a tie for third with a win and a Belleville East loss. But the Redbirds will have to share fourth if they lose and Belleville West beats East.

So one team will end its losing streak tomorrow. But the Redbirds have a good chance of winning their regional (Alton first hosts East St. Louis Lincoln on Saturday) and head coach Stan McAfoos isn't retiring. Deterding is, and a victory over Lincoln in next week's East St. Louis Regional would make all other upsets in sports history pale in comparison.

"Maybe the seniors can reach down for something extra," said Deterding. "Alton is on the skids, but it's going to be tough for us with the injuries."

The injuries include a broken hand for Mike Wilkinson, the Warriors' leading scorer (12.5 points per game). Wilkinson broke the hand in Friday's 59-49 loss at Edwardsville, but played and scored two points in the 48-38 loss at East St. Louis on Saturday. He is now in a cast and finished for the season. Center Shawn Tripp also injured his hand at Edwardsville and his availability for this week is unknown.

"Mike is one of those kids who wants to play," said Deterding. "He's been our most consistent player, and it's obviously going to be difficult without him."

Alton remains one of the highest-scoring teams in the area, with Kevin Caldwell and Joe Vann combining for 40 points a game, but the Redbirds are near

Schnefke set GC goal mark

Junior Matt Schnefke set a new school record for goals with his 37 tallies for the Warrior hockey team this season. Schnefke had 37 goals and 16 assists for 53 points. The 37 goals broke the record previously held by Jim Roberson, who scored 33 last year. Schnefke's 53 points put him third on the Warriors' all-time single season point list. Roberson had 68 points last year and Tommy Brown had 55.

Schnefke led the North Division in scoring and was seventh on the Mid States Club Hockey Association scoring list.

"I think I'll have to put him in the top five of the best players I've had here," said Warrior coach Garry Henson. "Matt just has a great attitude. He wants to win and he hates to lose. We need to get more of the players thinking like that."

Schnefke played varsity as a freshman, when the Warriors had an outstanding senior class led by Todd Hinterson, whom Henson believes is the best hockey player ever to come out of Granite City. Schnefke blossomed into a team leader the past two seasons and Henson will expect lots from him next year.

"With one season to go, you can put Matt in a class with Ray Romine, Chris Carden, Adam Yurkovich, Matt Laub and Mark Doneff," Henson said.

DeSmet and CBC will be joined in this weekend's MSCHA semifinals by John Burroughs and Parkway North. DeSmet got past Chaminate while CBC edged Fox in the quarterfinals. Parkway North squeaked past Parkway Central in their two-game series, winning the first game 3-2 and getting a 3-3 tie in the second game. John Burroughs beat Country Day.

"We've got two new teams in the semifinals," Henson said of Parkway North and John Burroughs. "And John Burroughs will give CBC a real battle. The Parkway North-Parkway Central series was a good one with a massive crowd on hand."

Summer softball program starting

The Granite City Park District has announced the following format for its upcoming summer adult softball program.

The deadline for returning teams to pay their entry fee is March 2. After that date, spots will no longer be held for returning teams. All rosters and non-resident fees of $17.50 are due at the Wilson Park Office by April 3. Schedules will be available on April 14.

Teams who did not play in last year's league but are interested in forming a team will be placed on a waiting list. For more information, call Wake Barber at 877-3059.

Madison softball meeting March 1

Madison Parks and Recreation will have its softball managers meeting on March 1 at 6:30 p.m. at the Madison Memorial Center.

Rosters and rules will be issued at the meeting. Anyone with a men's, women's or co-ed team from last year or a new team interested in playing at the Third Street Diamond is urged to attend.

For more information, call Jim Broadway at 451-1440 Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Warriors

the bottom of the area in defense, allowing almost 70 points per outing. But offense hasn't exactly been the Warriors' strong suit. At 54.8 points per game, only two Metro East teams have averaged fewer.
"It's the same old bugaboo," Deterding said. "We just couldn't shoot the ball. We played pretty good defense in both games last weekend. We're playing together as a team a little better, but we're still missing more layups than anybody."
The Warriors were 20 for 52 (38 percent) at Edwardsville and 15 for 43 (35 percent) at East St. Louis and are shooting 38 percent from the field this year. The Venice Red Devils (19-6), by stark comparison, are shooting 62 percent.
Granite City trailed by only six until late in the game against the Flyers (7-2 in the SWC, 13-9 overall), who will try to gain a share of the SWC title by beating Collinsville (8-1, 16-8) at home Friday.
I'll probably start Mike Diller, since he's a senior," Deterding said of replacing Wilkinson. "But Joe Wallace and Skip Birdsong will see some action, too. Johnny VanBuskirk and Matt Cook played very well on Saturday. It would be nice to win one more."

NOTES: The Jerseyville

Madison

"I really felt like we were going to win the game a couple of minutes into the second half," Leonard said. "I thought, as bad as we have played, we are still ahead, and we have given them every chance to open up a big lead."

The Trojans only trailed 49-40 after three quarters, but the closest they could get was 67-60 with 3:03 left in the game.

The two senior starters, Tim Smith and Jessie Leonard, went out with good games. Leonard led the Trojans with 22 points and Smith added 14 points.

The loss put an end to a very long 4-19 season for Collins in his first year as coach.
"It has been a long and disappointing season," Collins said. "But I think we will do a complete reversal next year because of all the experience our young people got this year."

"Tonight we got the usual steady game out of our seniors, Smith and Leonard, but I was happy with the way the younger guys played off of the bench."

Panthers outscored Harrisburg 6-0 in overtime for a 40-43 win in the Benton Class AA Girls Super-Sectional on Monday. Jerseyville (20-1) will make its first trip to the state tournament. The Panthers will play Immaculate Heart at 1:30 today in Champagne Assembly Hall. The semifinals are Friday and the finals are Saturday. The Class A girls' state tournament will also be this weekend at the Assembly Hall...Deterding is leaning toward Collinsville in the Kahoks' game with East Side. Collinsville crushed a good Carbondale team 74-43 on Saturday. "If East Side plays like they did against us, Collinsville will handle them," Deterding said. The Kahoks beat the Flyers 52-50 in Collinsville earlier this year.
